

Oneonta Hospital Available, More Protests Received

Facilities of the Homer Folks Tuberculosis Hospital in Oneonta are available to patients of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, it was learned today, as opposition to the closing of the local hospital continued.

A recent letter from Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state commissioner of health, said definitely that service of the Oneonta hospital are available, and the town of Ulster and Kingston Typographical Union, Local 322 released for publication, resolutions opposing the closing of the Ulster county hospital.

Miss Truman Is Engaged To Editor

Independence, Mo., March 12 (AP)—Former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman today announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Margaret, to Clifton Daniel Jr., assistant to the foreign news editor of the New York Times.

Mr. Truman, who made the announcement for himself and Mrs. Truman at a press conference, said the wedding would be held in Independence in April.

Asked by a newsman when he and Mrs. Truman first received word from their daughter about the engagement, Truman said:

"THAT IS SOMETHING you will have to talk to them about."

Both Miss Truman and Daniel spent the weekend at Zebulon, N. C., visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Daniel Sr.

During the visit, the elder Daniel said his son and Miss Truman had been friends for years but he added "whether there's anymore to it than that I couldn't say."

MISS TRUMAN has spent most of her time in New York, where she is engaged in radio and television work.

The 32-year-old Miss Truman, a coloratura soprano has made a series of concert tours in the past six years.

She made her debut on television with the Ed Sullivan show in 1950. That same year she signed a radio and TV contract with the National Broadcasting Co.

DANIEL, 43, was graduated in 1933 from the University of North Carolina. His first newspaper work was on the Daily Bulletin at Dun, N. C., in 1933. He moved then to the News and Observer, Raleigh, N. C., from 1934 to 1937. For the next six years he was with the Associated Press in New York, Washington, D. C., Berne, Switzerland, and London.

He joined the New York Times in 1944, serving as a correspondent in London, the Middle East, Germany, and the Soviet Union. Last year he became assistant to the foreign editor of the New York Times.

Daniel's father, a Zenonologist, is a former president of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association.

Miss Truman and Daniel returned to New York by train this morning from a weekend at the home of Daniel's parents in Zebulon, N. C. Daniel was with her. The couple refused to comment on their plans.

Third Party Possibility Over School Integration

Washington, March 12 (AP)—Several southern senators held open today the possibility of a third party movement if the Democratic National Convention should commit the party firmly in favor of school integration.

Sen. Strom Thurmond (D.-S.C.), who led the Democratic States Rights Party which captured four Dixie states in 1948, said he knows of no third party move at this time.

"But I have enlisted with the South Carolina Democratic Party and if any dispute arises with the national party organization, I will be with the South Carolina Democratic Party," he said.

Another southern senator predicted Dixie delegates will walk out of the convention if it endorses the use of force to bring about integration of the races in public schools.

Sen. Russell (D.-Ga.) voiced the opinion that what happens in the way of any third party move "will depend on what happens in the convention, what kind of a platform it writes and what candidate it nominates."

Southern legislators set forth their views on the integration question yesterday in a "manifesto" signed by 19 senators and 77 House members from 11 states. All but two—Reps. Poff and Broyhill of Virginia—were Democrats. The 11 states have 22 senators and 105 representatives.

The statement pledged to exercise "all lawful means" to bring about a reversal of the 1954 decision by the Supreme Court outlawing segregated public schools. No specific courses of action were spelled out.

Sen. George (D.-Ga.) and Rep. Howard W. Smith (D.-Va.) arranged to read the statement today in the Senate and the House. Among other things, it declared the Supreme Court's integration decision to be "a clear abuse of judicial power." It said

MAILMAN HAS NEW 'CADDIE' — Andrew A. Sweeney, of 20 Lawrenceville street, a mail carrier at the Kingston Central Post-office, demonstrates ingenious new "caddie wagon" on his daily route, eliminating the burden of the traditional shoulder-slung mail bag which Mr. Sweeney has been carrying since he joined the post-office on May 7, 1939. The caddie wagons were invented as an aid to carrying golfers' clubs but Mr. Sweeney finds it a convenience, too, in delivering the mail. (Freeman photo.)

Rosendale Flood Rift Is Settled on Sunday

Harmony between members of the village board and the Rosendale Area Flood Control Committee was evidenced at a Sunday meeting of the two groups held at the Villa Bianco as charges against Mayor John Mooney were withdrawn and a plan of cooperative action for flood control was outlined.

It was also announced that a public meeting, scheduled to night at the Rosendale School to discuss "lack of proper action to get flood relief" has been cancelled.

THE FUROR began last week when Joseph Reid, chairman of the executive committee of the flood control group, complained that Mayor Mooney had not attended the various flood meetings held relative to relief for victims of the August and October disasters, which flooded their homes and property.

Mr. Reid charged that the mayor attended only two of 14 area meetings which were held in an effort to obtain flood control. He claimed that Mayor Mooney was not represented at any of the other 12 meetings.

IN A JOINT statement issued today by the village board and the flood control executive committee, it was announced that "differences of opinion reported in last week's press have been resolved and charges against Mayor Mooney have been withdrawn."

The announcement further said "action of flood control problems will be carried out vigorously by both the committee and the officials of the town and village in the future."

MAYOR MOONEY and Trustees George Herd and John Helmer represented the village board at Sunday's meeting. Members of the flood control group attending were Joseph Bianco, Mr. Reid, Herbert Kimker, Henry Mollenhauer and Supervisor George Mollenhauer of the town of Rosendale, who was chairman of the meeting.

Mr. Reid told The Freeman today that his group was satisfied with the assurance received from the village board it would help "to work out a plan of cooperative action pertaining to all matters of flood control and any other projects for the good and welfare of the town and village."

Opinion of housing officials at a recent conference in Reading, Pa., stressed the point that "Urban redevelopment does not seem feasible without a public housing project to meet the requirements of low-income families being displaced by urban renewal activities," Alexander Yosman, manager of the Kingston housing project said today.

Yosman, and officials from several states, attended the Middle Atlantic Regional Council of the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment officials March 8 and 9 at Reading.

The region consists of New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Delaware, but delegates from Ohio and Illinois also attended.

Many delegates from out of New York state, said Yosman, "remarked that New York cities did not know how lucky they were to be able to receive state aid in helping to reduce their urban development cost."

Yosman stressed that this state aid, as far as Kingston was concerned, was explained in detail by George E. Yerry, Jr., chairman of the Kingston Housing Authority in articles printed in the local press last week.

Yerry then noted that "In allocating a public housing program in this city, Commissioner McMurray stressed the need for such housing, and on that basis set aside sufficient funds until March 31, 1956, to build such a project at no cost to real estate taxpayers of the city."

The commissioner, he said, "also set aside $150,000 to assist the city in an urban renewal program. This sum, plus value of land already owned by the authority in the sixth ward, can be pyramided to nearly $500,000 as the result of matching funds from the federal government. It is obvious, therefore, that the key to an urban redevelopment program, is one of housing and finance."

It was also noted that Howard J. Wharton, regional director, Urban Renewal Administration, Philadelphia, in giving a report on urban development grants,

Combine Is Announced By Mohican

At its local branch today announcement was made by Mohican Stores, Inc., that the chain will merge with Kelley Food Stores of Connecticut.

Manager Edward N. Bruck of the store at 57-59 John street, informed employees there at noon today about the new combine, which will cover more territory in the eastern sector of the nation.

NOTIFICATION about the merger came to Manager Bruck from New York, signed by Thomas W. Dewart, Mohican president, and James E. Kelley, head of the chain bearing his name.

The 25 Mohican stores throughout New England and the seven Kelley stores in Connecticut will be operated by a new subsidiary of The Mohican Stores, Inc., to be known as the Mohican Company of New England, Inc. Headquarters will be in Connecticut with Mr. Kelley as president and Mr. Dewart as chairman of the board.

Kelley Stores are in Hartford, West Hartford, East Haven, Glastonbury, Stratford, Milford and Newington. Mr. Dewart said that the two groups of stores will operate under their present names during a transition period.

"Mr. Kelley will have complete direction of personnel, sales, procurement and planning for the 32 stores, as well as planning for the future expansion of the new company," Mr. Dewart said today.

"THE MERGER," Mr. Dewart said, "will offer customers the great buying and shopping advantages of a new and dynamic chain operation. We are tremendously pleased that we will join forces. It means enlarged

One Student Is Expelled for Leading Riots

Tuscaloosa, Ala., March 12 (AP)—One student was expelled, four others suspended and a score more less severely punished by the University of Alabama today for participation in rioting which drove Negro co-ed Autherine Lucy from the campus Feb. 6.

Leonard Wilson, 20-year-old sophomore from Selma, Ala., was called from class and expelled. His was the only name announced in the disciplinary action by the university's board of trustees.

THREE OTHER students, the trustees announced, have withdrawn from school during the investigation and will not be allowed to return unless they are able to clear themselves of charges against them.

Wilson's dismissal had been forecast by the student. He addressed two rallies of pro-segregation students and called for a "top-to-bottom housecleaning" at the university in a speech before a Birmingham white citizens council last Tuesday.

The trustees today said he had made "unwarranted and outrageous public attacks" on the Negro race.

Addressing 175 at a dinner in the Governor Clinton Hotel, he warned that Communist forces are eager to point to a domestic problem in America and say "Negroes must stand in line patiently waiting to get what we are justly entitled to."

He referred to incidents in the southern part of the nation, where certain forces are opposing desegregation in schools and in bus transportation.

Mr. Sandifer was chief counsel in the Henderson dining car case which the Supreme Court decided in 1950 outlawing segregation in dining car service.

Other speakers at the dinner, climaxing an executive board meeting of the New York State Conference of Branches, NAACP, were Paul F. Steinkuller, personnel manager at Kingston plant of International Business Machines Corp., Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom of Temple Emanuel, and Mrs. Effie A. Gordon, president, New York State Conference of Branches.

Henry Ford Approved Solicitation for Ike

Washington, March 12 (AP)—Henry Ford II testified today he personally approved solicitation of Ford dealers for campaign funds on behalf of President Eisenhower in 1952.

He denied, however, there were any "reprisals or recriminations" against dealers who failed to contribute.

FORD'S TESTIMONY to a Senate Commerce Subcommittee touched off a spirited exchange between Chairman Monroney (D-Okla.) and two Republican senators, Potter (Mich.) and Payne (Maine).

Monroney declared it could be construed as "indirect coercion" to solicit funds in such a fashion when dealers were dependent on a supply of cars—relatively scarce in 1952—for their livelihood.

Potter and Payne asserted, on the contrary, there was no evidence of any coercion against any Ford dealer. Both contended Monroney was proceeding solely on the basis of "hearsay" evidence.

Monroney said he could produce "a number of witnesses" who have reported they were subject to "indirect coercion" in the fund solicitation. He said he particularly wants to question one Chicago dealer, whom he declined to name.

THE SENATOR added this dealer left on a cruise as soon as the "pressure" question was raised in the subcommittee's auto marketing hearings several weeks ago. He said all efforts to locate the man have been unsuccessful.

The dealer is one identified by a previous witness as having asked him to give $1,000 to the Eisenhower campaign.

In a statement prepared for the subcommittee, Ford had said no pressure was put on dealers, no company funds were used and no other company personnel was involved.

WHILE ON the stand Ford testified he gave his approval—with firm conditions attached, when his personal assistant, Allen W. Merrell, proposed in the summer of 1952 to ask "strong Eisenhower supporters" among Ford dealers to solicit contributions from other Ford dealers.

Ford, who described himself as a strong Eisenhower supporter, told Monroney he plans to raise funds for the Republican campaign again this year.

HE SAID he didn't recall telling Merrell not to use his name in the 1952 solicitation but figured Merrell "had the good sense" to refrain from doing so.

Monroney said the subcommittee staff has been told letters soliciting contributions from dealers went out on Ford's personal stationery, although Ford was in Europe during most of the campaign.

Treatment of Negro Has Bearing on Foreign Policy

The world is watching America and its attitude toward Negro citizens, a prominent leader of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said here Saturday night.

Attorney Jawn A. Sandifer, past president of New York City Branch, and a member of the National Legal Committee of the NAACP, declared that U. S. foreign policy has a lot at stake in the matter.

Addressing 175 at a dinner in the Governor Clinton Hotel, he warned that Communist forces are eager to point to a domestic problem in America and say "Negroes must stand in line patiently waiting to get what we are justly entitled to."

He referred to incidents in the southern part of the nation, where certain forces are opposing desegregation in schools and in bus transportation.

Show Cause Decision Reserved

Way Sought To Pay Bills

Mrs. Alice S. Tinnie, town clerk of the town of Esopus, is seriously considering resigning as town clerk, it was ascertained today. Mrs. Tinnie stated she had not resigned, although a rumor to the effect that she had submitted her resignation Saturday was being circulated.

In the event Mrs. Tinnie resigns, under the town law, such resignation would be filed with the town clerk. Mrs. Tinnie being town clerk, her resignation would be delivered to her own office.

MRS. TINNIE has served as town clerk of the town of Esopus for a number of years and the present dispute as to whether Edward Eckert or Arnold L. Ellsworth holds the office of supervisor, revolves around whether a resignation submitted by Eckert to the town clerk is still in effect or whether it was properly withdrawn by Eckert and such withdrawal accepted by the town clerk.

Mrs. Tinnie contends she did not know the instrument which Eckert submitted to her for signature was a withdrawal of his earlier resignation. Meanwhile Ellsworth has been appointed by the town board. Both Eckert and Ellsworth contend they represent the town.

PAYROLLS meanwhile are being held up. A board meeting is scheduled for Wednesday. At Monticello Saturday where Justice William Deckleman was to hear a motion to show cause why Ellsworth should not be declared supervisor of the town and have books and papers turned over to him, a motion was made on Eckert's behalf to dismiss that proceeding on the grounds Article 80 of the Town Officers Law, under which the proceeding had been brought, was not the proper section. Justice Deckleman reserved decision and postponed the matter until today at 1 p. m. at Hudson in order to permit filing of briefs and for argument on the question. John Schick, town attorney, appeared for Ellsworth and N. LeVan Haver appeared for Eckert.

SCHICK OPPOSED the motion for dismissal of the proceeding and stated that the proceeding had been brought under Article 80 of the Public Officers Law in order to speed up determination of the matter and secure quick release of town funds so that payrolls and bills might be met.

Should Justice Deckleman decide Article 80 of the Public Officers Law does not apply, Schick said today, application would immediately be made to have the matter determined under "quo warranto" proceedings which must be instituted by the attorney general. Schick said the present summary proceeding had been brought in the interest of a quick determination of the matter so that payroll might be met. He pointed out that "quo warranto" proceedings would be long drawn out and said if such proceedings were found necessary a remedy would be sought by application to the comptroller to have some person authorized to sign checks and meet payrolls, pending final determination of the question as to who is supervisor of the town.

Williams New Superintendent Of Mails Here

Kenneth S. Williams, of 100 Wilson avenue, has been appointed superintendent of mails of the Kingston Post Office, it was announced today by Postmaster William R. Kraft. The appointment is effective immediately.

Mr. Williams succeeds John N. Purvis, of 121 Mary's avenue, who retired Feb. 29 after 47 years service. Mr. Williams joined the local office July 1, 1929 as a clerk. He was appointed clerk-in-charge May 1, 1955.

He is married to the former Margaret Gabriel of West New York, N. J.

Funeral Is Held For J. T. Rice Area Contractor

The funeral of Joseph T. Rice of Olive Bridge was held Friday morning at the Church of St. Catherine, Pelham, N. Y. Mr. Rice, a native of Milwaukee, has been active in the construction of railways, water supply systems and subways and for a period of 25 years executed many contracts for the New York Board of Water Supply, including the clearing of 40,000 acres for the Ashokan Reservoir and the construction of siphon sections in the Newburgh-Kingston area. He also had important contracts on the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel under the Hudson river and sections of the Independent Subway in New York City.

After his retirement in 1939 he made his home at Olive Bridge, where he and his wife celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary last July sixth. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary O'Neill Rice; four daughters, Mother M. Berenice, O.S.U. of the College of New Rochelle; Mrs. Hugh J. Kelly of Mount Vernon, Mrs. Michael P. Saunders of Philadelphia and Mrs. Roland F. Roche of East Orange, N. J.; and three sons: Leo, of Fresh Meadows, L. I., Daniel, of Pasadena, California and James O. Rice of Bronxville.

The funeral Mass was offered by the Rev. Austin V. Carey of the Benedictine Hospital and was sung by the Student Choir of the College of New Rochelle. Present in the sanctuary during the Mass were the Right Rev. Monsignor Francis X. Shea, Dean of Westchester County; Right Rev. Monsignor Henry J. Hammer, pastor of St. Catherine's; and the Rev. Fathers Roger Monson, C. P., John J. Quinn, Thomas Maher, Arthur A. Campbell, Francis X. Mahoney, John Crotty, Edward Connors and John Wong.

Burial was in the family plot at Gate of Heaven Cemetery, Valhalla, where the committal service was conducted by Father Carey, assisted by Fathers Crotty and Munson.

Marbletown Law Class

No Injuries Reported In Port Ewen Mishap

A two-car collision at 7:35 a. m. Sunday at the intersection of Salem street and Bayard street in Port Ewen was reported to the Ulster county sheriff's office by one of the drivers. John P. Auringer, 44, of Port Ewen, said he was proceeding east on Salem street toward Broadway when he was in collision with a 1948 passenger car operated by Benjamin Coniglio of Port Ewen, coming out of Bayard street. Mr. Auringer charged that Mr. Coniglio failed to stop for a stop sign at the intersection.

The left rear side, fender, and bumper of the Auringer car were reported damaged.

ment opportunities for the residents thereof. The resolution then noted that "All hospital facilities, nursing homes, and infirmaries for the care of the aged and chronically ill in Ulster county are overcrowded, and not able to provide enough bed space for those persons requiring hospitalization and infirmity care."

IT NOTED also that "each year the population of older folks increases within Ulster county, and some provision must be made for the care of the increased number of aged and chronically ill persons who are unable to live alone, and must be cared for in the proper facility."

It is proposed, along with closing of the hospital, the resolution said, "to convert said well equipped and ideally located hospital into a county office building. It then noted a "long waiting list" at the county infirmary, making it necessary for "these older people to wait sometimes a matter of 10 months for admittance." It then opposed closing the hospital and urged that if it is closed, it be re-opened for the care of the chronically ill.

The Kingston Typographical Union resolution, adopted at a March 5 meeting, said the union "recommends to the Ulster County Board of Supervisors that the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital be allowed to remain, and continue its service to its patients, its employees, and to the citizens of the City of Kingston and the County of Ulster."

THE RESOLUTION noted that the hospital "has had a long and faithful record of service to the citizens of the City of Kingston, and the County of Ulster." Its patients "for the most part," said, are residents of the city and county, and it held that its closing would "prove a real hardship to the patients and employees."

A copy of the resolution was forwarded to the Board of Supervisors.

Other groups, including the Kingston Common Council, the Ulster County Chapter, New York State Civil Service Employees Association, and others, have adopted resolutions favoring continuance of the hospital.

HOWEVER, the opportunity to war test the satellite produced arms for combat effectiveness, as well as the chance to have "experts" impress the despotic ridden populace with the strong propaganda messages from the Soviet bloc are opportunities which will not be wasted by the Reds.

Preparedness for support of the army of any country invaded must be done now by the free-dom loving nations. Maintaining the arms balance for security reasons and preventing an arms race are further steps that the democracies can take to cut off a potential confederation.

At the recent rally of the Jewish Community Council of Kingston, the entire membership voted to set up machinery to air the facts in this critical situation and alert the American public to the hazards at hand.

A delegation of Rabbi Herbert Bloom, representing the clergy; Seymour Werbalowsky, representing the local lay leadership; Benjamin Schecter for the Community Council and Sol Silverman for the organized Jewish Community of Kingston were authorized to act on behalf of the community in this emergency. In addition to a concerted effort to get as many facts before the public by all means of public communication, the committee was to embark on a social action program.

AT THE RECENT meeting at the office of Senator Arthur H. Wicks, the committee presented the council's position to the senator, and were accorded the courtesy of a lengthy hearing of the factors involved. The senator expressed his continued interest in the State of Israel and encouraged the committee to continue its good work in presenting the facts of the crisis to the general public. In closing the interview, Senator Wicks said, "We have a common interest in the preservation of peace."

Further action by the committee will continue pending resolution of the Near Eastern Problem, and the establishment of U. N. safeguards to Israel's borders and citizens. The outpost of democracy in the Near East will continue to improve our position as to the strengths of democracy versus communistic dictatorship.

Supreme Court Rules No Delay On Admissions

Washington, March 12 (AP) — The Supreme Court today declared unanimously that state universities may not delay the admission of Negro students pending a study of problems involved.

The high tribunal issued an order overturning a Florida Supreme Court decision that permitted a delay in the admission of Virgil D. Hawkins to the law school of the all white University of Florida.

Hawkins is a 48-year-old Negro of Daytona Beach, Fla.

THE FLORIDA Supreme Court had appointed a commissioner to take testimony on the question as to when Hawkins could be admitted without creating "public mischief."

The highest tribunal's per curiam (for the court) order today said: "As this case involves the admission of a Negro to a graduate professional school, there is not reason for delay."

"He is entitled to prompt admission under the rules and regulations applicable to other qualified candidates."

Only last Monday the Supreme Court affirmed a lower court decision which broadened to include tax-supported colleges and universities the high court's 1954 decision on striking down segregation in public schools.

Today's order noted that the Supreme Court in 1954 had ordered Hawkins' case—then before the tribunal—reconsidered in the light of the public school decision of that year.

Today's order went on to say the 1954 order did not mean to imply that there could be any delay in admitting students to graduate schools.

THE COURT noted that in the earlier cases—prior to its ruling in the public school case—the tribunal had ordered Negroes admitted to graduate schools without discrimination because of color.

Two of the earlier cases involved the University of Oklahoma and the other the University of Texas.

Hawkins appealed to the Supreme Court to overturn the Florida Supreme Court delaying action.

University officials had opposed immediate admission of Hawkins on the ground that permitting Negroes in institutions of higher learning that were established for white students "presents a grave and serious problem affecting the welfare of all students and the institutions themselves and will require numerous adjustments and changes at the institutions." The Florida Supreme Court called this a valid defense to issuance of an order requiring immediate admission of Hawkins.

Hawkins disputed this in his appeal. He said:

"THE REMOVAL of racial barriers with respect to admission to state junior colleges, colleges, graduate or professional schools, "involves no such administrative problems (as occur in grade schools) and, indeed, no administrative considerations of any complexity whatsoever."

Hawkins protested that almost seven years has elapsed since he first applied to the Florida university for admission. He said the state recently had asked that the commissioner be given until next July 2 to make his report to the State Supreme Court.

Lapla Farmer Is Found Dead

John Brodhead, 71, a farmer, was found dead Sunday morning in his shack in Lapla near Lomontville where he lived alone.

Coroner Francis J. McCordie investigated and issued a verdict of death due to natural causes. He said Mr. Brodhead died of a coronary thrombosis. The Ulster county sheriff's office assisted in the investigation.

Mr. Brodhead was found by Harry Sutton, deputy commissioner of the Ulster County Welfare Department, when he visited the home to transfer Mr. Brodhead to the County Infirmary, it was reported.

Surviving is a son, Nelson Brodhead, and two daughters, Mrs. Alice Hamilton and Mrs. Ada Strong, all of Lomontville.

Loose Tractor Wheel Causes Triple Mishap

A three-vehicle traffic accident occurred about 9 p. m. yesterday when a wheel broke loose from a tractor-trailer at the intersection of Route 9W and the Black Creek road in Esopus.

Highland state police reported that the tractor-trailer, operated by Theodore Steronko, 35, of Little Falls, N. J., was proceeding north up grade when the tire rim came off, striking the left rear fender of one car, narrowly missing a second vehicle and smashing into the front of a third, all traveling south on 9W. There were no injuries.

The tractor-trailer continued into Kingston, unaware that it had lost a wheel. In Kingston the second wheel came off, forcing the driver to stop.

Struck in the left rear fender was a passenger car operated by Mrs. Veronica Gully, 41, of 29 Rogers street, and in the front was another passenger vehicle operated by Benjamin Mills, 43, of RD 1, Box 182, Kingston. It was reported by Trooper Joseph Cullen.

The tractor was owned by Mr. Steronko and the trailer by Harman Motor Trucks of Rutherford, N. J.

Combine Is

opportunities for our employees and greatly expanded service to our customers."

Mr. Kelley announced the first new super market in the Mohican-Kelley group will be opened this summer in Bloomfield, Connecticut. Three others, he said, are planned in the months ahead. "We see a bright future in the food business, and the merger will accelerate the many new conveniences and improvements which Mr. Dewart and I plan to bring to the shopping public," Mr. Kelley said.

THE FIRST Mohican Market opened 60 years ago in New London, Conn. It had 22 separate departments and while not a check-out store, it was considered the first truly super market in New England. The Kelley chain was launched with a store in Milford, Conn., eight years ago. Its most recent addition was in Newington.

The Mohican Stores, Inc., will continue as the parent organization at its headquarters here at 280 Broadway. In addition to the 25 stores figuring in the Kelley merger, Mohican operates another 32 stores in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Mr. Dewart said, "The merger with the Kelley group will be one of the first steps in our long-planned five-year program to streamline our operation."

THE MOHICAN stores involved in the merger include 12 in Lewiston, Me., Concord and Manchester, N. H., Waterbury, Meriden, New London, Norwich, Middletown, New Haven and West Haven, Conn., Westerly, L. I. and Haverhill, Mass., all of which offer S. & H. Green Stamp Plan as do all the Kelley stores. The other 13 Mohican Markets in New England are in Pittsfield, Holyoke, Quincy, Springfield, Lawrence, Mass., Hartford, New Britain, Bridgeport, Danbury, Conn., and Troy, Middletown, Kingston and Poughkeepsie in New York state.

Outstanding Farmer

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., March 12 (AP) — The state's outstanding young farmer of the year is Carl Unker of Elba in Genesee county. Jack Schaffer, president of the state Junior Chamber of Commerce, said Saturday that Unker started his farm practically "on a shoestring" and in five years turned his $900 investment into a $22,000 share of the rented farm.

Ban Mass Meetings

Athens, Greece, March 12 (AP) — Greece clamped a ban on mass meetings called for today in protest against British deportation of Archbishop Makarios of Cyprus to a remote Indian Ocean island. In the Cyprus capital of Nicosia, workers ran their protest strike into the third day.

Gets 10 Days

John D. Snyder, 20, of Highland, who was arrested on a charge of assault third degree Sunday night on complaint of his wife, entered a plea of guilty when arraigned before Justice of the Peace William Gruner of Highland and was sentenced to 10 days in the Ulster county jail.

Cordial Exchange

Tucson, Ariz. (AP) — A couple tached this note on the door and left for a shopping trip downtown: "Dear Keith: Have a drink and enjoy the fights. Lock up when you leave." Keith couldn't make it, but someone else did. This is what the couple found: "My name is not Keith. I enjoyed the drink, though. I did not steal anything as I had planned to, and I'll tell my friends to keep away from here, too. P. S. I locked the door."

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 12 (AP)—The stock market advanced today, but by early afternoon there were a lot of small minus signs dotting the list.

Activity was pronounced and hit a pace of around 3,000,000 shares for the day. That compares with 3,430,000 shares Friday when the market set a record high price average.

Gains today were not outstanding. A few key stocks added more than a point. Lots of small fractional losses flecked the list.

Transit Talks Resume

Baltimore, March 12 (AP)—Negotiations between the Baltimore Transit Co. and the Transit Workers' Union, the first since March 2, were to resume today under the watchful eye of the state commissioner of labor and industry. The state of Maryland seized the Transit Company one week ago today. Under seizure, trolleys and buses rolled again last Friday ending a 40-day strike.

Executive Jobs for Retail Stores Difficult to Fill

By SAM DAWSON

New York, March 12 (AP)—Retailing concerns complain it's hard today to find young men and women to train for executive jobs in the stores of tomorrow.

The need for them grows. In addition to the normal replacement of aging executives, each year there are more retail outlets to be staffed. Merchandising groups now are making an active try to entice recruits.

Supermarkets and shopping centers continue to spring up. And the steady growth of chains across the land and of branch stores in the suburbs makes retailing more complex, calling both for more store managers and for top executive skill in the central office.

IN THE BATTLE to snag promising college students for future executives, retailing has been losing out to other industries. Tempting starting pay in other lines—especially in engineering—attracts youths who feel their first five years or so in merchandising might be bleak by comparison.

Retailers also are now training bright newcomers for future executive jobs.

For example, the National Association of Food Chains, of Washington, has helped Michigan State University at East Lansing to set up a course for training in food distribution. The association says it underwrites the teaching and other expenses of the course. The first class of 13 enrolled in 1950. It has grown quickly, and 200 are expected next September.

STUDENTS AT Michigan State University may elect courses in food distribution, but members of the association also choose students—often store employees—and send them along to study on the chain's payroll, and then return to carve out a career in the grocery business.

A choice of three courses is offered: One leads to a bachelor's degree; another is for graduate students; and a third is a one-year course which experienced food store executives can take to brush up on new ideas in their trade.

John A. Logan, president of the association, points up the need for executives in the food chain field. He says 1,800 new supermarkets opened last year and 2,500 more are on the drawing boards. Food chains have 22,000 supermarkets and food stores around the land to be staffed.

THE AVERAGE food chain, Logan says, has 200 categories of skills employed in its central and district headquarters, warehouse or distribution centers.

The same applies in other fields of merchandising—the dry goods and appliance chains, the big department stores with branches.

Many have use for young men who know about advertising, public relations, publicity, personnel management. Chains use architects, draftsmen, engineers and those with knowledge of real estate and insurance, accounting, finance, statistics and research.

RETAILING IS no longer the simple job which grandfather defined as "buying cheap and selling dear."

How long does it take for a recruit to advance? Many of the food chains, Logan says, have training programs of one to three years. Newcomers are moved from department to department to be ready for a trained reserve for the management of supermarkets yet to come.

The way to the top takes longer. By tradition promotion is from within. In the upper executive brackets of the chains, officials average 22 years with the same company. And presidents have a history with their firms averaging 29 years.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

New York (AP)—I set out to find the 10 most boring types of people in America.

You may be more sophisticated than I am, but I really was surprised by the results.

I was surprised to 'discover' how many people are bored by the things they feel they honestly love. I never had thought that love and boredom could partner. They do.

MY RESEARCH poll was made among men only. The odd thing about it was (I bow in pride to the ineradicable gallantry of the male sex) that no man raised the possibility that a woman, as such, could possibly be boring.

Anger him, yes! Confuse him, certainly! Bore him? Never happen!

Some might question, if I were running an honest dog-trot poll of who are the 10 most common types of bores in America, why I didn't ask the opinion of women.

Frankly, as a fellow who feels he knows more about women than they do about themselves, I thought it would be a waste of time. I knew the answer. Obviously, to a woman, the 10 most boring people she knew would be the last 10 people who did what she wanted.

WELL, NOW, with sex out of the way (at last), we can get down to facts.

The facts are, neighbor and friend, that thee and I at times, high as our regard for each other is, do frankly bore each other in those moments of living when we dwell on the underside of ecstasy.

Every thoughtful person has his own ideas about our most common American bores, but here are the 10 that resulted from my quick survey:

1. The hobbyists. A new sport car from Germany, a fresh stamp from Abyssinia, a rosy rocket that might reach the moon, three mistakes that if Robert E. Lee hadn't made would have changed the present accent in Brooklyn, and how to make a camellia smell sweet as well as look ornamental... Ah, experts!

2. Anybody who married for the first time, had a baby for the first time, or who just bought a new car, new house, or a new job—and who feels nothing quite like this ever happened before in the history of the world.

3. One who has acquired and brags about a disease so new it isn't even listed in the $3.95 family medical book you inherited from the old folks.

4. Gourmets. (The trouble with gourmets is that, when they invite you out to dinner, they always insist they knew the best thing on the menu and you must share their knowledge, too, even though it consists of pickled rabbit's foot).

Bravery Medals

Washington, March 12 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell today asked all state and territorial governors to submit their nominations for the 1955 Young American medals for bravery and service.

The medals were authorized by Congress in 1950 to give recognition to boys and girls up to 18 years old who performed some outstanding act of bravery or established some record of outstanding service.

Old Man Winter Tries To Keep Spring Away

Buffalo, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—The calendar says there are only eight more days until spring. But in New York's state old man winter apparently can't read.

Cold Arctic air poured into the state yesterday on winds that were recorded up to 65 miles an hour. In many areas the temperature dropped more than 20 degrees in the course of the afternoon.

The temperatures continued their downward plunge and overnight readings of 20 below were expected.

The Buffalo weather bureau reported 78-mile-an-hour gusts and a temperature skid of 24 degrees in nine hours.

In northern New York the Plattsburgh area was hit by 70 mile an hour winds and drifting snow made driving hazardous in some spots.

At Salamanca, where the Allegheny river has been running haywire since Thursday, things were getting back to normal. The 9,000 residents of the southwestern New York industrial city set about the business of cleaning silt and mud from their homes.

The flood at Salamanca was the worst in the city's history and a record peak of 14 feet 1 inch was reached Thursday night. Flood stage was 10 feet one inch. The river today was back below the flood stage.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

"HIS HIGHNESS"

As we approach the great wedding which is to take the mind of man off all his troubles and wars and confusions, the subject naturally becomes increasingly interesting although I doubt whether it is really important. At any rate, Grace Kelly of Philadelphia and Rainier Grimaldi of Monaco have established that subsequent to their marriage the aforesaid Grace will no longer play in movies which must be very upsetting to those who had planned to make money out of her. However, they can console themselves by projecting old film in which she appears or they can produce a documentary of the wedding which ought to be interesting, like the coronation of Queen Elizabeth which was quite a show.

I note that when Grace Kelly refers to her betrothed she calls him, "His Highness," which is not characteristic of Americans who do not go in for titles. I thought that Grimaldi was "His Serene Highness" which is quite fancy, although it seemed to me to be something like the "Honorable" which Congressmen and such put in front of their names to designate them as persons apart. Even I receive letters occasionally addressed to the "Honorable" whereas for my postman, Mister, even abbreviated into Mr., would seem to fulfill required courtesies.

When Americans grow fanciful, they sometimes go to excesses, like speaking of the prospective groom as "His Highness," which is just a crude way of saying, "Look what a fish I caught!" During my recent and for that matter still current illness, I have been reading areas of our newspapers which I used to skip over as not essential to my life. Those areas are the long columns telling of the doings of all sorts of people unknown to me. It would seem that most of the items deal with marriage, divorce, adultery and seduction and that marriage is regarded as the more incidental occurrence. In fact, some of these writers are able to predict divorces before the parties at issue know about them, this phenomenon being scientifically proved by denials by the parties at issue.

It would also seem that the current fashion for breaking up a marriage is for the husband and wife to lunch together at some such public place as Sardi's restaurant, where they smile and hold hands and are duly photographed. Then the "estranged" persons go get their divorce. It appears that a divorce is accompanied by some kind of courtship. Also I note from these reports that it is customary for these "estranged" persons to be seen together demonstrably affectionate, in various eating houses, holding hands under the table or dancing cheek to cheek. Nevertheless, they get a divorce on the grounds of mental cruelty.

These new social customs are nearly as mad as our current politics but unless you read these reports, you would not know about them because most human beings still do not encounter such occurrences in their own lives or among their friends. No matter what the statisticians show, most folks when they get married, stay that way, for better or for worse, and who can really tell which is which? Also, if there is a bust-up, it is generally the real thing with much anger and shouting and all the neighbors wondering what got into them. So these items are of interest because they are unusual and deal generally with celebrities who are people that can afford to hire a press agent to keep their names before the public.

Sometimes as I read these peculiar items, I thought that maybe these poor souls were still very much in love and only give out the story of estrangement because the press agent is short of items to keep their names in display. It is possible so but it would take more research than is worth while to check on all the estrangements to discover whether they are really still living together under one roof. Maybe marriage has a greater survival power among these celebrities than the news items would indicate.

Another thing about this new sociology is the phrase, "mental cruelty," which seems to imply a mentality or a sensibility among the parties at issue. But the question does arise—it really must—whether thoughtful or sensitive persons would permit their private lives to be exposed so casually. That is a psychological rather than a sociological problem and we shall leave it.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HORMONES

Hormones have been defined as chemical substances secreted into our blood by ductless (endocrine) glands and carried to produce special effects upon cells distant from where the hormone originated. Some of us may have thought of hormones as synonymous with glands and sex and, of course, they are indispensable to normal sexual development. Their influence throughout our lives ranges far beyond the sexual sphere. The way we behave and feel and think and look is modified by hormone chemistry as long as we live. Hormones have more potent and mysterious effects on human health than even doctors dreamed of until very recent years. A terribly small amount of a hormone can make all the difference between a normal and an abnormal life. The amount of estrogen, the female hormone, for example, secreted by an adult woman would in 200 days just about equal the weight of a postage stamp.

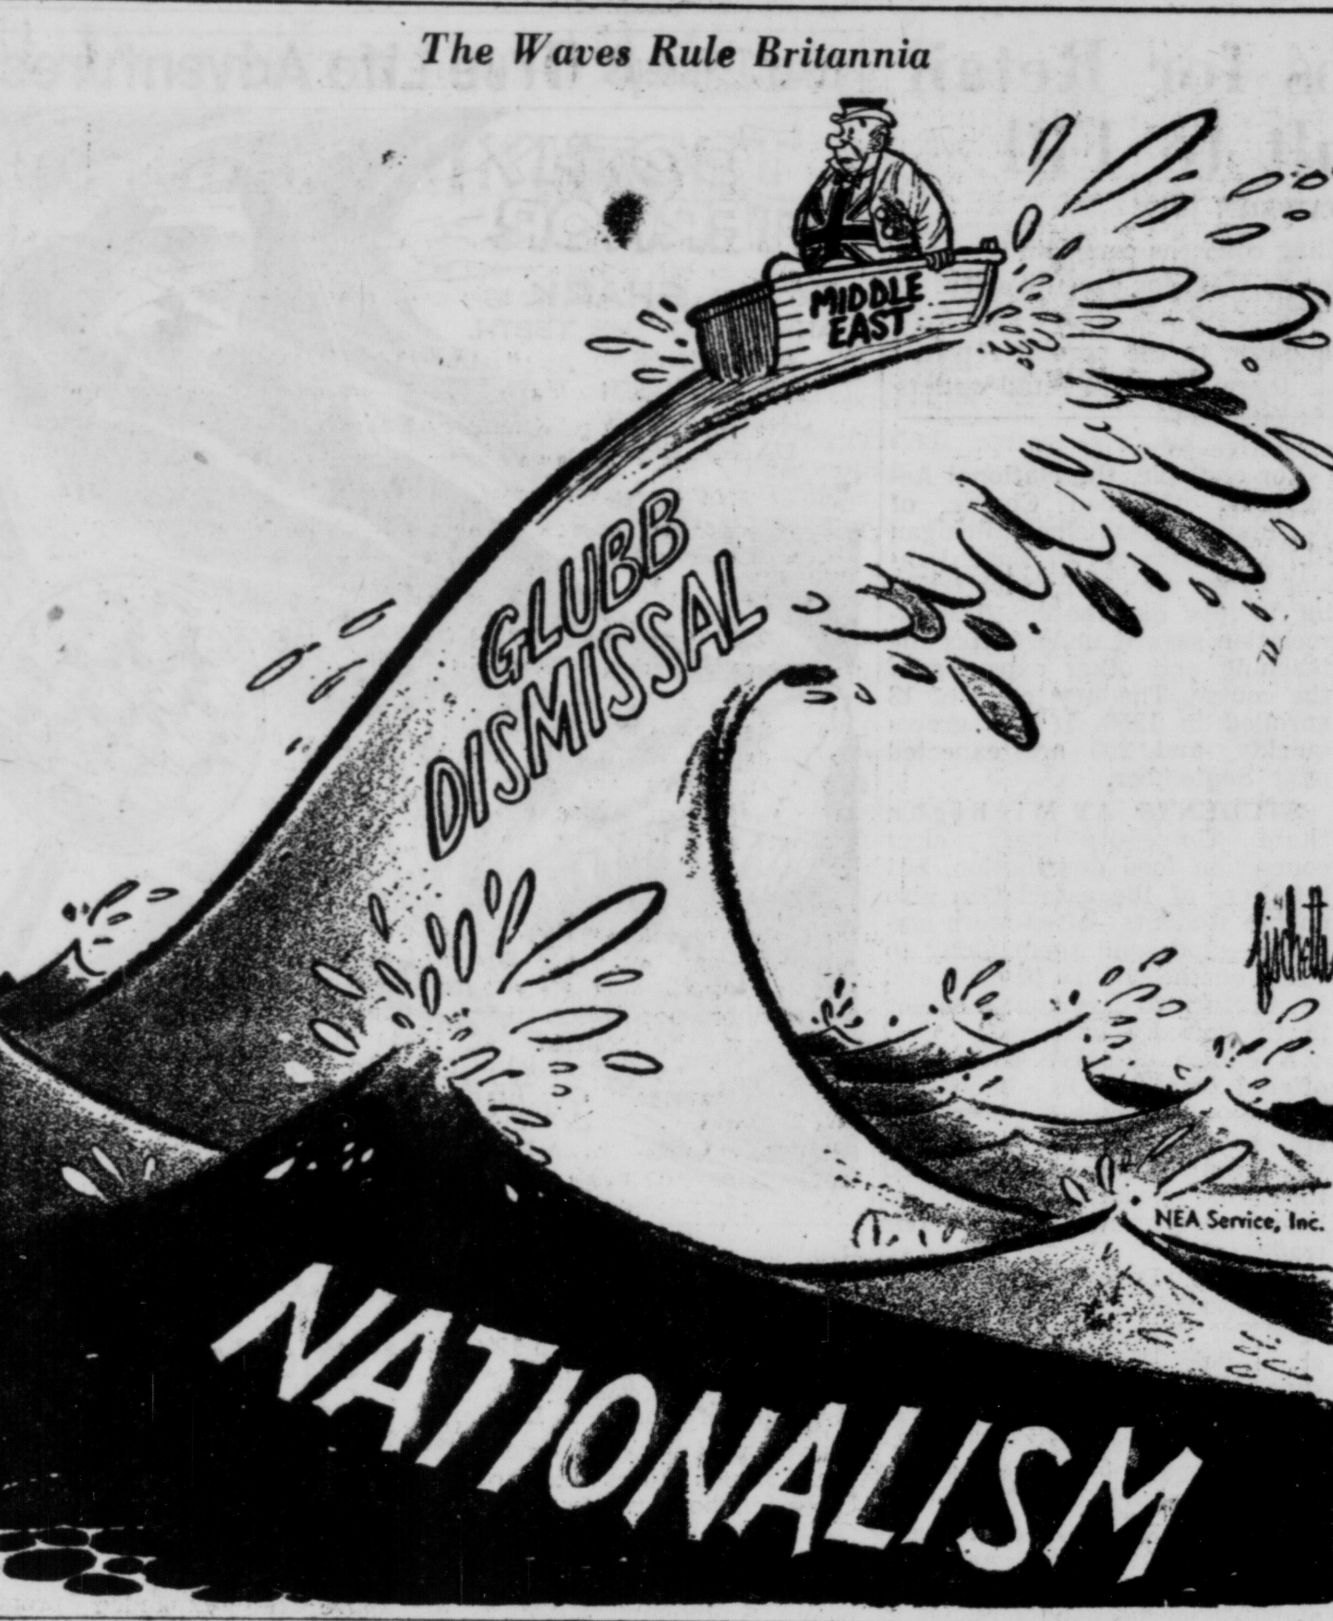

The word "hormone" stems from the Greek word meaning "I excite" and it is a fact that they seem to be chemical messengers secreted or made by one organ to affect the working of another. They also suppress, neutralize, or modify one another's effects, to keep the chemical activities of the body in orderly balance.

The male sex hormone is testosterone. You may find a young man who speaks with a squeaky soprano voice, has no facial or body hair, is timid of manner and immature in appearance. His muscles may be flabby, there is excess weight on hips, abdomen and chest. His doctor begins to give him male sex hormones. The powerful chemicals slowly transform his body. He grows a beard and has to shave. His voice deepens, muscles become firm, fat pads melt away, reproductive organs begin to enlarge. Male hormone treatments repeatedly work such miraculous transformations but only, and this is important, in cases where there is a lack or shortage of the male hormone.

Hormones are given for two main reasons: as substitutes, replacements, or additions to hormones the body should be making but isn't (at least in sufficient quantities); or as stimulants or awakeners of chemical processes of the body that need a little lift to encourage them into normal, healthy balance. The immature young man we have described had a deficiency of male hormones but he had all the glands and organs that hormones affect. Testosterone supplements made good the deficiency of his own glands and changed the course of his life. Adult males who have suffered the total loss of their male hormone factories, the testes, can live a vigorously masculine life if the loss is replaced by testosterone. The only difference is that such men cannot become fathers since they do not produce spermatozoa, the male germ cells. Male hormones cannot produce such spectacular results in men who are already producing adequate amounts of testosterone.

Tomorrow we will consider other aspects of the male sex hormone.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington — (NEA)—Amid much sound and fury, Congress plods along at the customary election year pace.

Rep. Peter Freylinghuysen (R-NJ) suggests "No important legislation may be passed this year."

In the first two months of the present session 27 bills have been passed and signed by the President. One was vetoed—the natural gas bill.

This is not a fair measure of all the work done in Congress this year.

In the Senate, 689 bills, resolutions and measures of all kinds have been introduced; 289 have been reported out by committees and 184 have been passed.

In the House, 2,032 measures have been introduced, 208 have been reported out and 189 have been passed.

What cuts down the total is that Senate and House haven't acted on the same measures, except on the 27.

ONLY SEVEN of those fully approved can be considered important:

Authorization for foreign sales of nonbasic farm surpluses. Increase for Small Business Administration disaster loans. Approval for housing repair loans in disaster areas. Extension of polio vaccine assistance through June, 1957. Provision for maintenance of Merchant Marine Academy. A deficiency appropriation of 65 million dollars to run the government. Authorization for Passamaguddy tidal power survey.

The other 20 measures include ten federal land transfers and private relief bills, seven minor tax law revisions, a minor communications law amendment, approval for a passport fee increase and approval of livestock and poultry import regulations for the Virgin Islands.

In the whole kit and boodle there isn't anything for a congressman to write home about, to get re-elected.

THE ACCOMPLISHMENTS are so minor that Executive Office aides haven't even compiled a list of the things President Eisenhower has asked Congress to do this year. About a dozen of them are considered really important.

Farm relief—Senate may vote soon. No House action.

School aid—Tied up over racial segregation issue.

Highway plan — Ways and Means Committee wrangling on taxes.

Immigration law revision — Majorities don't want.

Postal rate increases—Doubtful in an election year.

Extension of present federal tax rates—Likely.

Housing program—Just presented. Too early to tell.

Water resources policy—Not much expected this year.

Increased foreign aid with long range authorization—Faces trouble because of general foreign policy criticism.

U. S. membership in OTC — new organization for Trade Cooperation — Faces opposition from high tariff hobbies.

Second Hoover Commission recommendations on reorganization of federal government.

Little progress to date, but this one is stymied in White House offices, not Congress.

INDEPENDENTLY, Congress is working on a half-dozen major legislative ideas of its own.

Higher, rigid price supports on basic farm crops—It faces a veto if Congress tacks it onto soil bank plans.

Tax cuts—Will come up late in session if justified.

New requirement for disclosure on union welfare funds.

Fixing responsibility for determination of a president's inability to serve and who would assume his duties — This is, of course, an outgrowth of Eisenhower's heart attack.

Hatch Act revision—To raise campaign expense ceiling.

Election law revision — To limit political contributions.

The last two proposals are expected to result from the Gore committee's investigation of lobbying practices.

Investigating has really been the principal activity of this year's Congress. Over two million dollars have been approved to finance some 15 special investigations in the Senate and about ten in the House. This is where all the oratorical noise comes from, making it appear Congress is busier than usual.

Control of Congress, they're pouring on the coal to steam up political issues. Republican efforts to pour cold water on these probes have so far failed to put out the fires.

Close Election Is Forecast, Doubtful States Hold Key

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 12 — The next presidential election looks very close. If no more than 702,000 persons out of the 9,164,000 who voted for Eisenhower in 1952 in seven doubtful states should change their minds next November, the Republican presidential ticket could be defeated. It involves a change of only about seven and a half per cent which can readily result from disaffection inside the Republican party.

This tabulation assumes that the four southern states with an electoral vote of 57 which went for Eisenhower last time—Texas, Florida, Tennessee and Virginia—will surely be lost to the Republicans in 1956 in resentment over the segregation issue.

THE REASON WHY an Eisenhower majority of 266 in the electoral college might not develop this time is that these seven doubtful states—Minnesota, Missouri, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Michigan and Oklahoma—comprise 120 electoral votes and the evidence shows they are leaning toward the Democratic side.

When 120 are subtracted from the 385 electoral votes that Eisenhower got outside the Solid South in 1952, it leaves only 265 which is one less than the majority of 266 needed to elect a President.

Actually the picture for the Republicans is even dimmer. There are, for instance, 19 other electoral votes which also are doubtful—Arizona, New Mexico, Montana, Rhode Island, and Delaware. In each of these states the margin was narrow in 1952. Also in the 1954 elections the drop in percentage points on the total votes cast for Republicans against Democratic members of the House of Representatives in those five states was considerable.

THERE IS A substantial segregationist sentiment in the "border" states of Oklahoma, Missouri and Maryland, and this can be expected to wipe out the Republican margin of 1952. Already, in the 1954 election, Republican strength showed a drop off in these as well as in four other northern states which together comprise the total of 120 electoral votes. Here is a table which shows the percentage of the total vote gotten in these seven doubtful states by the Republicans in 1954 as compared with the congressional vote in 1952:

| | 1952 | 1954 | Elect. Vote |
|--------------|------|------|-------------|
| Oklahoma | 41.3 | 35.1 | 8 |
| Missouri | 51.8 | 56.3 | 9 |
| Illinois | 47.8 | 43.8 | 13 |
| Michigan | 54 | 47.2 | 11 |
| Minnesota | 52.6 | 48.1 | 20 |
| Pennsylvania | 53.9 | 49.6 | 27 |
| Total | 52.3 | 49.3 | 32 |

EXAMINING ALSO the Eisenhower majorities in 1952, each of these seven doubtful states, they could be overturned by a change of only three per cent in Oklahoma, less than six per cent in Maryland, less than one per cent in Missouri, less than five per cent in Minnesota, less than six per cent in Michigan and about five per cent in Illinois.

The farm disaffection is strong in Missouri, Minnesota and Oklahoma and could be a factor in southern Illinois and upper Michigan where the rural vote is normally Republican. As for Pennsylvania, it elected a Democratic governor last time by reason of the Democratic strength in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and the fall off of the regular Republican vote in the other parts of the state. Michigan told the same story in the senatorial race in 1954 — with Detroit increasing the Democratic strength and the rest of the state showing a big stay-at-home total of regular Republicans.

Whichever way the Republican strategists may look at the picture they find plenty of trouble spots. There is, for example, danger in New York state with its 45 electoral votes. Senator Ives, Republican, who had won by a majority of 1,332-198 in 1952 lost by 11,125 as a gubernatorial candidate in November 1954. This was due to defections of regular Republicans who were resentful over the way McCarthy was opposed by the Eisenhower administration as indicated in the turnover of Queens county, which had given Ives a big majority in 1952 and had rolled up Republican majorities consistently for Republican candidates in previous years.

PLAINLY THE Republican managers will have to figure out a way to get a united party and a ticket that will persuade Republicans to go to the polls in 1956. They should be worrying far less about what will attract "left wing" Democrats and more about winning back regular Republicans. As one prominent Republican senator put it to this correspondent, the other day: "For every Democrat supposedly attracted by deserting Nixon, we will lose two regular Republicans who will stay at home." Unexplained Crashes

Hopkinsville, Ky. (AP)—Can you imagine several heavy concrete mixing trucks charging into each other, then backing off and ramming again? It happened at a concrete supply company garage. Night prowlers drove the trucks into each other several times, then parked them back inside, police said. Damage: $200; explanation: none.

No Comment

Albuquerque, N. M. (AP)—Former Gov. Edwin L. Machem may have set some sort of record for brevity in announcing he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. Asked if he would make the race, Machem replied: "Up." Asked if he would make any other comments, he replied: "None."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

On March 29, 1954, Senator Barry Goldwater, of Arizona, made a speech on the floor of the Senate in which he attacked Max Lowenthal as "the insidious Red master of stealth" and one of a group of "despicable swindlers" serving and abetting the Red cause.

Lowenthal is a New York and Washington lawyer who spotted Harry Truman as the man he wanted for vice president behind the dying Roosevelt when Truman was a senator, and steered him toward the White House.

Goldwater's speech was primarily a defense of the FBI against an immediate attack by Alan Barth, the chief propagandist of the Washington Post, published in Harper's magazine.

Lowenthal also had attacked the FBI to the extent of a fat book. The FBI is a deadly enemy of communism and Communists and other traitors. The attitude of the Washington Post is less distinct.

The Post recently was nailed in an exploit of the very kind which it professes to abhor. In New York, Paul H. Hughes, a seedy bum, was tried in the Federal Court, and the testimony showed that, Alfred Friendly, managing editor of the Washington Post, joined with others to provide $10,800 to reward

Hughes for non-existent "evidence" smearing Senator Joe McCarthy. The whole deal was a fake, but Friendly testified that he was willing to believe anything Hughes might say against McCarthy because he believed Goldwater was a scoundrel.

Goldwater said in his speech on the floor: "The FBI has been the chief target of Communists, their stooges and apologists for years. A new effort is now being made. The worker, Communist leaders and apologists have been seeking a way to impede and thwart the FBI in its job of protecting our internal security. Frequently they expose themselves as the despicable swindlers that they are. One of the most notorious was the insidious Red master of stealth, Max Lowenthal. Long a friend of persons in high office, he was able to accomplish deeds of staggering proportions which benefited the Red masters of the Kremlin."

"Like Lowenthal, Barth shows himself to be a master of adroit misrepresentation. The only conclusion I can reach is that the purpose of his Harper's article is intended as a defense for keeping Harry Dexter White, Harold Glasser, Duncan Lee, Sol Adler, Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, Alger Hiss, Frank Coe, Laughlin Currie and others of similar ilk in the government."

"Strangely, Barth is silent on Silvermaster's shameful performance in invoking the fifth amendment when Silvermaster declined to answer whether he knew or ever had any conversation with Lowenthal."

Lowenthal, himself, clammed up when the House Committee on Un-American Activities tried to get the truth from him about his activities as an "adviser" to General Clay in Germany after the war. Lowenthal gassed the committee with arrogant bombast and the committee lacked the guts to treat him rough as it did Alger Hill and others.

The evidence that Lowenthal hand-picked Truman for president comes from Jonathan Daniels, who served as one of Truman's selfless nonentities in the White House. In his Truman biography called "Man of Independence," Daniels wrote that Truman fell under Lowenthal's eye when Truman was running a Senate investigation of the railroads. Lowenthal was counsel for the committee.

"Casually, but with the secret feeling of a man offering a well-earned accolade, Lowenthal suggested to Truman that he would like to take him to see his friend Brandeis." Daniels wrote. Brandeis had become "one of the great judges of the liberal tradition" and his apartment "a Washington institution."

"I'm not used to meeting people like that," Truman said. "After his first meeting," Daniels continued, "Truman went almost every week to open houses which Brandeis held for selected friends, during that time, with the help of Lowenthal, and probably the influence of Brandeis' talk, Truman made a speech which was forgotten by conservatives when he succeeded Roosevelt. It was a broadside against concentrated wealth and banks and lawyers in their service."

After that "the old gray justice gave him special welcome." That apartment was "a new world" to Truman.

Daniels wrote that early in 1944 Lowenthal had been urging Truman to run for the vice presidency. Roosevelt obviously was dying and Lowenthal wanted his man, now molded to Brandeis' ideas, in line for the succession. Truman demurred, but Lowenthal insisted, and finally his man became President for almost 8 years.

Windy as he is about his grand abilities, achievements and range of acquaintance, Lowenthal is equally reticent in "Who's Who in America." He is not even listed.

10 Overcome in Church

Vernon, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—The Vernon Volunteer Fire Department administered oxygen yesterday to ten worshippers who were overcome by gas during a Mass at St. Catherine's Roman Catholic Church. The 10—men, women and children—were later treated by physicians. None was hospitalized. Gas seeped into the church proper after a backdraft extinguished the flame in a gas furnace, Trooper J. J. Connolly of the state police said.

Experts estimate that about 30 per cent of U. S. farms are part-time or residential farms.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Ike's Popularity Still
At Peak in California

(Editor's Note: This is one in a series of stories by the AP's national political reporters who are surveying the situation across the country in the light of President Eisenhower's decision to seek a second term.)

By MORRIS LANDSBERG

Sacramento, Calif., March 12 (AP)—A hard thing to come by in California today is any widespread prediction that the Democrats will take the big state away from President Eisenhower in 1956.

Some people tell you they won't vote for Eisenhower again because of his heart attack. Others don't like Vice President Nixon, campaign manager, says:

"ON THE BASIS of President Eisenhower's opinion of Mr. Nixon and the support he has received from party organization people, it is safe to predict that in all probability he will be renominated."

But Mrs. Clara Shirsper, Democratic National Committeewoman, is convinced that Nixon will be an issue in the November campaign if he is renominated. California Democrats, she says, are "completely and irrevocably opposed to Nixon and all he stands for."

At the moment, Democrats are pretty busy getting ready for the Stevenson-Kefauver showdown in the June 5 primary.

IT'S BOUND to be a hot affair, and the outcome could be close. The Democratic State Chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Snyder of Los Angeles, predicts Stevenson will come out on top in California. Tom C. Carrell of San Fernando, Kefauver's State Chairman, replied "we're sure we are going to carry California."

Both candidates showed well here in 1952. Kefauver won the primary by better than 2-1, rolling up 1,115,000 votes against a state formed before President Truman decided not to run again. Stevenson polled in excess of 2 million that November while losing to Eisenhower.

Stevenson appears to have the edge over Kefauver now, coming in as his party's 1952 nominee and with the support of all top Democratic officials in the state except for Mrs. Shirsper. Political writers are not discounting the possibility of a Kefauver victory. The Tennessee senator is backed by a hard-working state organization, and he has proved himself to be a personable campaigner.

Republicans concede that any GOP candidate other than Eisenhower would face a tough job to swing California. There are some formative signs of a Democratic trend in voting, and the election registration is still preponderantly Democratic.

BUT, SAYS GOP state chairman Thomas W. Caldwell, "with President Eisenhower heading the Republican ticket, he will be reelected with a large majority."

"Democratic chances are much better than they were in 1952," says the Democratic chairman, Mrs. Snyder. She'd settle for Truman's 17,000-vote margin in 1948 over Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican nominee.

POLITICAL writers are not discounting the possibility of a Kefauver victory. The Tennessee senator is backed by a hard-working state organization, and he has proved himself to be a personable campaigner.

Republicans concede that any GOP candidate other than Eisenhower would face a tough job to swing California. There are some formative signs of a Democratic trend in voting, and the election registration is still preponderantly Democratic.

"Democratic chances are much better than they were in 1952," says the Democratic chairman, Mrs. Snyder. She'd settle for Truman's 17,000-vote margin in 1948 over Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican nominee.

The Democratic State Chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Snyder of Los Angeles, predicts Stevenson will come out on top in California. Tom C. Carrell of San Fernando, Kefauver's State Chairman, replied "we're sure we are going to carry California."

LINCOLN

The longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln of all time

If this changes your former preferences...you're in good company!

We'd like to make a prediction about you. Without reservation, we prophesy that you will revise your fine car standards upward after even a brief personal meeting with Lincoln for 1956.

The reason for our confidence? Simply this: the pleased people we've watched in our showrooms—and the names we've been writing on our waiting lists—ever since this completely new fine car made its debut.

We're certain that you—like these others who really know fine cars—will recognize at once the dramatic whole newness of Lincoln design. In its long, clean sweep of line. In the breathtaking daring of its low silhouette, a scant five feet high.

And we further forecast this: when you turn the key, your interest will turn to admiration. For you will feel the swift obedient thrust of the new 285-hp Lincoln engine as it is served up with silken smoothness by Lincoln's incomparable Turbo-Drive transmission. You will know the gentle firmness of Lincoln's ball-joint suspension system.

And all this, surrounded by the matchless luxury of Lincoln interiors...encircled by the protection of Lincoln safety advances... pampered by the automatic ease of Lincoln power assists.

We suggest you put our prediction to the test this very week—with a Lincoln safety-flex steering wheel in your hands and a long road before you. Why not make it today?

OFFICE CAT

Trade Mark Reg. By Junius

Two wealthy young New York women were strolling through Central Park.

First—Oh, look, what a love of a baby is in that carriage!

Second—Isn't it, though (and they walked over to it).

First—Good gracious. What a strange coincidence—it's my baby!

Surprised, her friend asked, Second—Are you sure?

First—Positive, darling. I recognized the nurse.

A thin man resented the lateral pressure of a fat man on the same seat with him in a street car.

Thin Man—They ought to charge by weight in these cars.

Fat Man—If they did, sonny, you'd have to walk. They couldn't afford to stop for you.

He started out as an unwanted child, but he overcame the handicap. By the time he was 19 he was wanted in 24 states.

A man was having lunch one afternoon with a friend of his and they were discussing the romance of a young fellow and girl they each knew.

First Man—What do you think of them getting married?

Second Man—Well, it's all right, I guess, but it's too bad that Jim and his girl aren't good enough for each other.

The other man put his cup of coffee down in surprise.

First Man—Not good enough for each other? What in the world makes you say a thing like that?

Second Man—Well, I've been talking to both families.

Strange Diet

"The baby swallowed father's cuff link!"

Mother calls the doctor. Father calls the fire department. Hysteria reigns until junior finds the missing cuff link under the bed.

Scenes like this have happened in almost every household where there is a baby. Children seem to be born with the desire to swallow anything small enough to fit into the mouth. Unfortunately, too often the cuff link is not under the bed. Baby really has managed to swallow it. Fortunately doctors are constantly developing new ways to get it out.

As early as 1620, medical history tells us, a surgeon removed nine coins swallowed by a boy who was about to be robbed. Today doctors try to find ways of avoiding surgery in removing objects that children swallow.

One new way of removing a metallic object is use of a very small magnet on a string. The magnet can be put into the throat and allowed to work its way down into the stomach or intestines. It is then withdrawn, pulling the indigestible tidbit with it. Doctors have had considerable success in retrieving mother's bobby pins by this method. However, it is not an operation to be performed by "do-it-yourself" fans.

Physicians can now also give antibiotic drugs to prevent infection. Then they wait and watch until the object is eliminated naturally. An unusual case reported by one doctor is that of a year-old baby boy who swallowed five open safety pins and a dozen needles. He also managed to consume the balloon given to him at the hospital. The child was given antibiotics. Almost all the objects were eliminated; a few had to be removed by surgery. He left the hospital in the best of health—ready to swallow anything else he could get his hands on.

Foreign bodies which get into the windpipe and lungs are perhaps the most dangerous to children. If not coughed up, clogging of air passages results. Emergency removal is usually necessary.

Doctors do their best, but the important task in preventing the tragedies that can result from swallowing odd objects is up to parents. It's a 24 hour job to protect baby from the strange diet he will follow in his natural desire to try the taste of anything and everything.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Solid Suit Sets Up Slam

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

What's the best line of play for the slam in today's hand? Should you try to ruff out low diamonds in the dummy, or is some other line of play better?

To play for the diamonds will give you substantially less than an even chance. After West's opening trump lead, you can ruff only two diamonds in the dummy. This will leave you with two losing diamonds unless each opponent starts with exactly four cards in the suit or unless you get some lucky break.

A better chance is available. You can develop dummy's hearts if East has one or both of the missing high cards in the suit. The odds are 3 to 1 that East will have at least one high heart.

You allow dummy to hold the first trick with the seven of clubs. Next, you lead the queen of hearts from the dummy. You intend to discard a diamond if East plays a low heart.

As it happens, East puts up the ace of hearts. You ruff with the queen of clubs and return the eight of clubs to dummy's nine.

This puts you in position to lead the jack of hearts from the dummy. East plays low (as he must), and you discard a diamond. West is able to win the trick with the king of hearts, but you can afford to give up one trick.

West returns the king of diamonds, as good a try as any, and you win in your hand with the ace. Now you lead the ten of clubs to dummy's jack. This draws East's last trump and enables you to lead established hearts from the dummy. You can easily discard all of the low diamonds, fulfilling the slam contract.

CONFIDENCE IN ALDERMEN
March 8, 1956

Editor, The Freeman:
Every citizen of Kingston should feel not only satisfied, but gratified and assured that his health and welfare is being considered by his elected representatives in the government of our city.

I wish to express my confidence in Aldermen Radel and Roth who sponsored the excellent resolution on fluoridation at the March 6, 1956, Common Council meeting. They are most correct when they state: "We want no action on establishing fluoridation in the city water system by the water department until the results of a thorough study are made known and the public is thoroughly acquainted with the facts."

The following appeared in the New York Journal American on March 7, 1956:

"The decision to leave it (mass fluoridation of New York City's water supply) up to a public vote will be made because of the ticklish political, economic, health and emotional ramifications involved. City officials do not want to take the responsibility themselves."

Evidently they feel that fluoridation will produce bad effects. Until it is proved beyond doubt and to the satisfaction of all who must drink this water, there can be no justification for such an undertaking.

High School Bands Play to Capacity Audience on Friday

A 180 piece band climaxed a program of band music presented Friday evening at the George Washington School Auditorium, and when the final strains of the Washington Post March ceased the assembled guests were high in their praise of the entire program.

The occasion was the combined concert of the Meridian, (Conn.) High School Band and the Kingston High School Band, under the joint leadership of bandmasters Walter Angus and Marlin Morette.

The visiting band inaugurated the program with Auditorium Session by Moffit, and then presented Light Cavalry, Elephant's Tango, Miniature Choral and Fugue, Walls of Jericho, and The Nutmegger's March. On the final march, the drum major and majorettes from Connecticut performed to the music of the band.

The Kingston High School Band then presented a varied program under the baton of bandmaster Marlin Morette, beginning with the March of The Majorettes and ending with Them Bases March. Other selections by the local band included The Student Prince, S.I.B.A. March, Finlandia, Tenderly, Stepping High March, and Prairie Lament. Ronald Quarantino, cornetist, rendered the Londonderry Air as a solo, while Richard Bunting presented a Sousaphone solo, Tarantelle by Walters.

The program closed with the combined bands presenting Sunset Soliloquy by Walters and the Washington Post March by Sousa.

This weekend, the Kingston High School Band will be the guests of the Meridian bandspeople in a return concert in the Nutmeg state.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

EXTRAORDINARY UNSELFCONSCIOUSNESS

Today's first letter comes from the mother of a bride-to-be: "At the time my daughter's engagement was announced, which was about six months ago, she asked a close friend of hers to be matron of honor at her wedding. Shortly afterwards she learned that this friend was going to have a baby. My daughter thought that she would 'drop out' of the wedding party on her own accord but she hasn't said a word and evidently still intends to take part. It will be quite obvious by that time and my daughter thinks her appearance will be despoiling to the wedding picture. Would it be wrong for my daughter to ask her to step out? This is a rather ticklish situation and we would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

I am astonished at this mother-to-be's seeming unawareness of what her appearance must at this time be, and it is puzzling to understand why she has not already told your daughter that she cannot take part in the wedding. Unpleasant as it may be she will have to be told that she cannot spoil the whole picture of the wedding.

Flowers for a Man

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct for men to wear flowers in their buttonhole on any occasion, or is it a suitable embellishment for men only at a wedding?

Answer: A single flower is not improper any time he chooses to wear one. Some men wear one almost always. However, real boutonnières are worn only on formal occasions. White ones are really "a must" for the men of the bridal party.

Returning a Greeting

Dear Mrs. Post: I think that when someone recognizes me on the street, even if I don't know who the person is, I should return the greeting. My wife thinks not. Which one is correct?

Answer: You are correct. There is no rudeness greater than "cutting" someone who bows to you no matter who you are or who bows.

What should the wedding guests wear to the wedding reception? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Clothes for daytime and evening weddings are included in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-6, "What to Wear at Wedding Receptions." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EF, c/o The Freeman.

Igniters Will Award Trophies For Safe Driving

Safe-driving trophies will be awarded to members of the Kingston Igniters, local hot-rod club, who have perfect driving records for a period of six months, it was announced today by Deputy Sheriff Carl Cline, founder of the organization.

Mr. Cline said the safety campaign would begin April 1.

Trophies will be awarded by LeRoy Wells of the White Star Transfer Co. Trophies to be awarded at the end of the first six months will be approximately 10 inches high set on pedestals.

Following the first six-month campaign there will be a second campaign of six months and then a third. Trophies will also be awarded by Mr. Wells at the end of each of those periods. Trophies will be larger and more handsome for each succeeding period, Mr. Cline said.

THE TROPHIES will be on display in a special Igniters booth at the Lions Exposition March 20-24. The Kingston Automobile Dealers Association is sponsoring the Igniter booth.

At a meeting of the Igniters last week, Mr. Wells spoke on the subject of safety and displayed one of the trophies.

Alton Krom of Hurley, well-known stunt driver who has presented shows in the Kingston area for many years, was a guest of the club and spoke briefly, calling attention to the importance of safety. He said that patience and consideration of others were essential.

Mr. Wells said he hoped that the safety campaign would interest other organizations in joining in support of the local Igniters.

Boy Scout News

Boy Scout Troop 16
Parents night was observed at a special program conducted this week by Boy Scout Troop 16 at Stone Ridge.

A highlight of the program was a candlelight ceremony embodying the points of the scout oath. A tenderfoot investiture ceremony was also conducted by Carlton L. Deyo, scoutmaster and Raymond Gallagher, assistant.

The Court of Honor for ranks of second class and first class was held with Scout Executive George V. Dennis making the presentations.

In the announcements of the evening Assistant Scoutmaster Gallagher reported that the Apache Patrol, winner of the last inter-patrol contest would be rewarded with a free trip to the Planetarium in New York on March 17. It was also announced that weekly swimming parties at the YMCA, under the supervision of troop leaders have proven gratifying. In the past nine weeks four boys have learned how to swim while others have improved their form. Several boys have learned how to swim while others have passed swimming requirement for first class.

DURING THE program recognition of all advancements since September were announced. According to Scoutmaster Deyo's report 11 boys have become tenderfoot; seven advanced to second class and two advanced to first class. Mothers of the scouts who advanced received the pins for first and second class scouts.

Installation was held of junior officers who attained their positions at a weekend training session at Camp Tri-Mount. Guy A. McCorkle, chairman of the committee welcomed the parents and introduced other members of the committee.

Frank Bourke, camp chairman of the council addressed the group describing the many events a boy encounters during a day at summer camp.

Mr. Bourke stressed the importance of troops attending camp in a unit with their own leadership.

The evening concluded with the Scout Benediction and refreshments were served by the mothers of the scouts and wives of committeemen.

lian, Carlann Madison, Irene Roudis, Mrs. Gerlak, Dolores Vollmer and Karen Stenson. Front row, (l-r) Michelle Soper, Janet Burgher and Lynn Berry. The girl scouts also dedicate today to the homemaking phase of their programs.

Ronder Will Get Service Plaque From B'nai B'rith

Zephaniah Lodge 131, B'nai B'rith, will elect officers at a covenant breakfast next Sunday morning and award a plaque to Alfred Ronder for his long years of service to the lodge and the community.

A capacity attendance is expected to attend the breakfast at 9:30 a. m. in Tina's Restaurant on Abel street, where entertainment will be furnished by Lou Mason, one of the nation's leading storytellers, who recently appeared on the Steve Allen show.

The plaque to be given Mr. Ronder exemplifies the first tenet of B'nai B'rith creed—active participation in all civic affairs for the general betterment of the community.

B'nai B'rith is one of the oldest lodges in America and this order now has hundreds of thousands of members throughout the nation devoted to community service.

Because of the capacity crowd expected to attend the breakfast, those who have not made reservations are advised to call Tina's by Friday noon.

Code of Ethics Is Stressed by Realtors Board

The exacting demands of those with real estate problems, the need for the integrity and special skills of a professional, are met by realtors, "those pledged to an established code of ethics," Lawrence J. MacAvery, director of the Ulster County Real Estate Board said today.

Mr. MacAvery's statement was issued in connection with Realtor's Pledge Day during the current observance of Realtor Week, March 11 to 17. The local board is joining with hundreds of other similar boards during this period in acquainting the public with the services of realtors—those who are members of these boards and of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. The local board will conduct a meeting today to stress the realtor's pledge.

"More and more," Mr. MacAvery said, "the intricacies of buying and selling real property for others require the abilities of professional persons, those who have proven competence and have publicly avowed to serve all in fairness. In the real estate fields, such persons are realtors."

"Realtors are real estate brokers—with something added. Realtors, besides meeting state eligibility requirements for all brokers, pledge themselves to abide by a code of ethics, far more demanding in daily dealings than the law governing brokers," he said.

"This is the pledge that is taken by all brokers who join a local real estate board and the National Association of Real Estate Boards (the national Realtors' association). Among other things, this pledge calls on the realtor to act toward all in the spirit of the Golden Rule," Mr. MacAvery declared.

"Besides ethical conduct, the pledge commits the realtor to work for the best interests of the community in property matters. It calls on him to be well informed and to keep informed about all phases of market conditions and law which affect property dealt with," he said.

Mr. MacAvery said board members believe the public has benefitted by this code of ethics. "We feel that all will continue to benefit by dealing with those who have pledged themselves to act in accord with this code, the realtors of this board and others across the country," he said.

Getting into the Act

By FRANK TRIPP

The other night I watched a film storm at sea; so realistic that I wished for a life raft. It wafted memory back to the time that I "appeared" in "The Count of Monte Cristo."

That classic stage spectacle had a terrifying sea storm too, if you remember; but I'll bet you don't know how they created a stage storm back in the Gay Nineties.

It took a lot of people to produce waves, thunder and lightning, and a platoon of city firemen alert and ready for emergencies. Electricity played small part in stage effects as yet, very little beyond the simple dimmers. Many theatres still had open gas flame footlights and border lights.

Ten to 20 stage hands or extras were required to create the storm, which beset "Edmund Dante's" ancient craft; one man for every wave. That's how, as a boy, I came to be a "wave" in Dumas' masterpiece.

MONTE CRISTO'S sizable papier-mache galleon was pushed to upstage, center. In front of it was spread a mammoth dusty, greenish canvas, covering the whole stage. That was the water; calm, placid water—until the "waves" crawled under it.

Under we went, and such a dirty mess a kid never got into. We had been coached to lie flat, rise to our knees, then stand upright, alternately and rapidly.

As we pushed the canvas up and down, that made the waves.

The second night I saw the effect from the audience, for once was all that I appeared as a wave. I got fired. It was pretty realistic, that undulating canvas and the creaking old galleon rolling and riding out the storm, mid roars of thunder and flashes of lightning. Today's top masters of stagecraft would applaud it.

Even the dust clouds played their part. Looked like spray; until wafted to the audience to choke asthmatics into cough spasms. That was nothing compared to its panic effect on the dozen choking lads under the canvas. That's how I came to be fired.

THE FELLOW next to me got off his stride, or I did. We bumped in the darkness just as the stage manager yelled, "Come on you punks, faster!" My neighbor said, "Who you callin' a punk?" and poked me one. The fight was on, a submarine fight, in a manner of speaking.

Before it was over we were out from under the canvas, and square under the prow of the imperilled galleon. Over our heads the great James O'Neill (Eugene's father) was in the midst of Dumas' best lines. The audience didn't hear him. They were cheering the fight.

But for that unfortunate incident who knows that I might not have gone from wave to wave, to become the whole Mediterranean; except that Mr. O'Neill wanted waves, not mermen.

THUNDER, those days, was made by shaking a huge hanging sheet of metal and banging it for a crash. Stage lightning was nearly as treacherous as the real thing. A cupful of flash powder was poured into a metal

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

DO YOU LIKE DOUGHNUTS?

Do you like doughnuts?

Sure, but the more hole, the less nut!

All the wise men tell us 1956 will be "ducky" and that Uncle Samuel has discovered the Midas touch. Really and truly, amen!

Mr. Hutton

The television screen has the "touch," — beautiful gals, well dressed hairdos, men with charming voices who hand out the commercials! Buy now — only a dollar down — three years to pay! Do it now and avoid the rush!

You can spend. Go in debt. Fear not! If you break a leg, "Uncle" will give you a free crutch. Button shoes are out of date, but not crutches!

So, be happy, toss responsibilities out the door; sign on the dotted line — years to pay! Your credit is good. Everything on the cuff! It all boils down to high pressure selling techniques. So in this jagged land, consumer credit throughout the country has jumped to about 17 billion S's. And, in the face of all this, "Uncle" has hopes of balancing the budget!

You will probably say: "Hutton's an old sourpuss." You're wrong, neighbor. The fact is, we are taking an inflationary balloon ride with no parachute! Shoot me for saying so! But it's the truth!

The holes in the doughnuts are getting bigger. The result: You're paying a higher price for less dough. Do, re, mi, la! On with the dance!

National spending is getting bigger; inflation is spreading inside the doughnut; and everybody is getting nutty! Neighbor, it's a great time for squirrels! They will gather the nuts. And the dough!

trough and lighted. Still there were few stage fires.

Another time I got in bad for getting into the act. I was a prop boy and the show was "Sunshine of Paradise Alley." Lotta Faust was in the cast.

There was a pile of hat boxes to be moved across stage for the next act, a lashed together stack higher than my head. I picked them up and started across.

The setting was an East River dock scene and New York's skyline. It was a confusing maze of drops, leg drops and gauzes, with multiple entrances and exits. I got in front of, instead of behind, the back drop.

As the tenor was pouring a love song into Lotta's ear, I sauntered up East River with my stack of hat boxes.

Ad Is Refuted

New York (AP)—A little shop specializes in hero sandwiches—king-sized buns split down the middle for filling. The proprietor found a printed story quoting a dentist who said hero sandwiches are good for the teeth. He had it enlarged, and before hanging it on the wall of his shop, showed it to a customer who had just purchased one of the big sandwiches. The proprietor turned to hang up his new sign. The customer took his first bite and began to yell. He had broken his lower plate. The hanging of the sign was delayed until the customer left.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N. Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription. Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms. This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe that now it can be sold without prescription—in tiny tablets called Primatene®.

Primatene opens bronchial tubes, loosens mucus congestion, relieves taut nervous tension. All this without taking painful injections.

The secret is—Primatene combines 3 medicines (in full prescription strength) found most effective in combination for asthma distress. Each performs a special purpose.

So look forward to sleep at night and freedom from asthma spasms... get Primatene, at any drugstore. Only 98¢—money-back guarantee.

GMC brings you the most impressive improvements of all 1956 trucks

Now we can show you these great new GMC's that are further than ever ahead of all others. Their advances not only clinch power supremacy—but reach into fields still unexplored by other truck-makers.

For example, GMC's Road Shock Damper Suspension*—plus a unique new stabilizer—produces in half-ton models a ride comparable to the finest passenger car.

An optional new fast-ratio cruising axle in light-duty GMC's gives you an overdrive's pace and economy without its cost.

Sharply increased engine displacement in both sixes and V8's gives you a power family unsurpassed in the light-duty field. Specifically, we offer 14.4% GREATER displacement on 6-cylinder models, 16.2% on V8's than our nearest competitors. And GMC V8's, mind you, match the shortest stroke ratios in the truck industry.

Styling is well into the future—panoramic windshield to sand-tight tail gate. Tubeless tires, of course. And a 12-volt electrical system is standard.

These are some of the strides presented in new 1956 Blue Chip trucks we now have on view. The values are even more notable. Come in and get the facts!

*Standard on Suburban; optional at slight extra cost on other 1/2-ton models

Marbletown Central
Principal Merton Blanchard and Coach Charles Ayasse attended the Adult Education Leader Training Conference at New Paltz Thursday and Friday. Mr. Shultis' art classes are working on ideas for American Legion poppy posters.

Mrs. Ross K. Osterhoudt substituted for Jason Goumas Monday. Work is again in progress for the next issue of the EMCEE, which will be on sale after Easter vacation.

School will close for Easter vacation at noon Wednesday, March 28 and reopen Tuesday, April 10.

The fourth national convention of National Science Teachers Association will meet at Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C., March 14-17. On Thursday, March 15 the theme will be "Helping Children Learn How to Find Out." After the address by Fletcher Watson, Harvard Graduate School of Education, Cambridge, Mass., there will be four work discussion groups. Marbletown Central is proud to state that their science teacher, Mrs. Bernice Jansen, is one of the consultants for Work Discussion Group 3.

Mrs. Donald Downs of Kerhonkson will substitute during Mrs. Jansen's absence.

Young Legislators

Belgrade, Yugoslavia (AP) — Yugoslavia believes it has the youngest lawmakers in the world. More than half of the 554 members of the Yugoslav Parliament are between 30 and 40. Only 13 are more than 60. Twenty-eight are under 30. Dusan Petrovic, baby of the Parliament, is only 26. The largest single group—56—are industrial workers. Only one-fifth have university degrees. More than half never completed high school. All but 26 are members of the Yugoslav Communist Party. Those 26 belong to the Yugoslav Socialist Alliance of Working People, which follow the Yugoslav Communist Party line.

Lost, One Crime

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP)—Ordinarily police have a crime in hand and go hunting for the criminal —but not this time. They had the criminal in hand and had to go hunting for the crime. A man came into headquarters and said he'd broken into a confectionery "somewhere" and taken $15.

Police couldn't find the place so booked him on vagrancy charges.

PROSPERITY FOR EVERYBODY

Much of the legislation passed by the Congress in Washington has to do with the social and economic welfare of the American people and of those benighted friends of ours living across the seas.

The deeper the United States gets involved with the many problems at hand, the more complex becomes their solution. Scarcely a day goes by when some new troublesome matter is not reported in the public press.

Recently, the Secretary of Agriculture has been severely grilled by a congressional committee. It seriously questioned his price-support policies. The secretary believes that flexible supports are best. Most of the committee members want high rigid supports.

The tremendous surpluses of farm products controlled by the Commodity Credit Corporation are in reality the fruit of a decade-old policy introduced to encourage farm production during World War II. Prices levels were greatly influenced by the inflation that started in 1933.

The problem is a thorny one. The Secretary of Agriculture wants to reduce the huge surpluses without unduly harming the farmers' prosperity. One thing is certain; if high rigid price supports are followed under the old system, the problem will get worse.

As I have said in this column many times, farm prosperity—east, west, north, south—is indispensable in the national picture. Curtailing farmers' buying power cripples our well-being.

Yet steady increases in loans against farm products and frequent marketing losses when products are sold are getting America nowhere. These conditions undermine the dollar's integrity.

On Aug. 11, 1955, the 84th Congress voted to increase the borrowing authority of the Commodity Credit Corporation to $12,000,000,000. I wish my father and grandfather were here to read about this. And as of Dec. 31, 1955, all but $1,077,000,000 of this credit has been used.

Farmers in 44 states and in Puerto Rico had been aided by this program. Wheat, corn, tobacco, barley, oats, soybeans, wool and cotton bulk large in the picture.

Loss reserves running into the millions of dollars are set up against the day when surpluses will be given away or sold below cost. These losses are paid by taxes or borrowing or both. And food, a vital item in living costs, is high in price despite the surpluses.

Uncle Sam has plenty of economic problems. Farm price supports is only one. But, regardless of these vexations, through his servants in the Congress, he must promote prosperity for everybody to the limit of his power.

And he will. If economic conditions get bad in America, Congress will not hesitate to do something about it. And invariably it will be inflationary. High rigid price supports, growing surpluses, heavy taxes to pay losses, give-away programs—these all help to undermine the integrity of the dollar.

In the meantime, what will the stock market do? If the people turn confident, it will go up. If their feelings become pessimistic, it will go down. No one can chart 1,000,000 investors' emotions for long or accurately. They are like the weather—changeable.

But if I had surplus money, I would buy good stocks. And whether they advance or decline in price, I would hold them.

THE FORUM—(Q) "Aren't the blue chip stocks too high to buy?"

H. T.
(A) For those who must have 5% income, yes. For those who want growth and who can disregard low income and price fluctuations, no.

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in care of this newspaper.

Hudson Valley, College Stars on Kingston Tournament Rosters

Cedaraps Have Kaye, Brodhead And Carpouzis

A galaxy of stars are set to perform in the Kingston Basketball Tourney which opens Tuesday evening with a double-header at the municipal auditorium.

Cage luminaries galore from the Hudson Valley and upstate dot the rosters of the 18-team select tourney. Many of the notables will see action in tomorrow's twin bill which pits Affron's Oilers of Newburgh against the Highland Falls Pelicans in the 7:30 curtain-raiser and Sicker's Delivery of Kingston, defending champion, vs. the Pine Plains A.C. in the nightcap.

One of the brightest stars is Kingston's own George Carpouzis, who'll be seen with Backs Cedaraps. The former KHS standout has few peers as a scorer in the area and just recently tallied 58 points for a city YMCA scoring record.

CARPOUZIS is expected to get plenty of help from the likes of Bud Smith, former Ithaca College player and now coach at Saugerties High; Leroy Scott, 6-5 captain of Iona College and high scoring Marty Kaye.

With Carpouzis and Smith in the lineup, Backs boasts the hottest scoring duo in the city at the moment. Smith climaxed a great season of scoring with a 57-point effort for Wimpeys more than 10 days ago which was later erased by Carpouzis.

Two Newburgh teams, in addition to Affron's, are reputed to be loaded. Ketterson's Motors, which reached the semi-finals last year, has another strong outfit headed by former NFA greats Marty Chrystal, 6-5 Ed Gabron, and Bob Earley. Ralph Cook of this year's Goldback team also has been added.

Ready Kilowatts is the other Hill City entry and is paced by a pair of Marlboro Central luminaries, George Casey and Jerry Purdy. Another top-flight performer is Chuck Jergens.

OTISVILLE, which is back for the third year, has added high school star Ken Hosking to its roster. Hosking, Roy and Bob Walker, Harvey Collins and John Clausman form the nucleus of the team which played under the banner of New Vernon Tavern in the Middletown City League this season and finished second.

Bob Habig leads a good Port Jervis team into the tourney for the first time. Habig made a lasting impression on local fans last year playing with the Monticello Vets. The 6-3 jump-shot specialist is currently piloting the team in the championship finals of the Middletown City League.

Two teams from across the river, Hudson and Wappingers Falls PBA, bring top talent to the tourney. Gunner Vilinikis, all time scoring champion for Hudson High with more than 1,000 points, starts for his home town as well as talented scorer Bob Hallenback. Wappingers is made up of Beacon players who captured the Poughkeepsie YMCA tourney last year. Included on the squad are Art Kalenka, ex-NYU footballer, Jim Hopper, George LaValle and playmaker Whitey Raymond. For good measure, the Fallsmen have added former high school greats Clem Caprara and Bob Foster.

SCHOOLBOY stars Bill Hanna, John Kerin, Joe Martin and Bob Hansen are to carry the hopes of Vozick Sport of Saugerties. The first three have been directly responsible for the Sawyers glittering 18-2 record so far this season and are among the best young cage talent in the area.

Further north comes the Catskill Merchants paced by former CHS stalwarts Dave and Marv Sims and Duke Deyo, a consistent double figure scorer.

Little is known of the personnel of the two darkhorses of the tourney, the Amsterdam Vagonbonds and the Stamford Knights of Columbus. Word has it that the Vagonbonds boast a sensational young scorer in Bob Dzikowicz, who sparked Amsterdam High to third place in its circuit.

Wappingers New 85 lb. CYOChamps

St. Mary's of Wappingers Falls defeated St. Peter's of Kingston, 33-19, to win the CYO upstate basketball crown in the 85 pound division at Poughkeepsie's Lincoln Center yesterday.

The two county champions battled to a 6-6 draw at the first period, but the Dutchess quintet, paced by set-shot artist Bill Sori, pulled way to an intermission lead of 16-9. St. Peter's checked Sori in the third period and managed to match the victors' six-point output, but still trailed at the three-quarter mark, 27-13.

THE LOCAL lads chopped the deficit to seven points in the final period, but Sori and Tom Rogers threw in five successive markers with 1:30 left to clinch the verdict.

Sori was high for both sides with 18 points. Bill Huber of St. Peter's scored 13 and Sal Ligatino of the winners nine.

Globies, Aces Gain Victories In Boys League

The Globies and Cedar Aces captured basketball wins in the Boys' Club Junior Division League Friday night.

The Aces fought from behind to beat the Blue Jays, 29-25, while the Trotters lead all the way to down the Ramblers, 48-35.

Billy Ryans and Roy Havens with 10 and 8 points topped the Aces' scoring. Pete Kaiser looped in 10 for the Jays.

Tony Erena tallied 14 and Ron Perry and Rich Mitchell 12 apiece to lead the Trotters. Bill Robinson scored 11 of the Ramblers' points.

Whalens Champs In Intramural

Butch Whalen's basketball team won its fourth consecutive Kingston High School intramural championship Friday night when it turned back Fitzgerald's, 47-40.

'Dovey' Johnson with 16 points and Ron Ashdown with 10 led the victors. Marty Kaye rimmed 13 to pace the losers, while Fitzgerald hit an even dozen and Vic Spella 11.

The boxscore:

WHALEN'S (47)—Ashdown f, 10; Whalen f, 8; Johnson c, 16; Richards g, 6; Godwin g, 7; Davis g, 0.

FITZGERALD'S (40)—Tiano f, 0; Spella f, 11; Pratt c, 2; Berry g, 2; Kaye g, 13; Fitzgerald g, 12.

The Singles Classic standing at the Bowldrome has that familiar look today.

Johnny Ferraro, the old pro, is on top after a steady uphill climb. But he didn't achieve the pinnacle until he had survived a spectacular match with Tom Carlino.

FERRARO HAD to club 869 to get nothing better than a split with stocky Tommy, who spilled 856. The combined pinnage of 1725 set a record for the tournament.

John's brother, Buster, was relegated to second place with 164.44 Petersen points behind John's 166.38. Buster survived a ragged 648 series to beat Joe Ruzzo, who dipped to 602.

Carlino nipped Ferraro, 215-214, in the first set, but the old pro rallied with 256-228 to grab the next two. Carlino squared it 217-170 in the finale.

TIM BILYEU (823) tripped George Shufeldt (765), 3 to 1. Larry Weishaupt (840) blanked Tom Amato (679). Chris Gallo (770) topped John Schatzel (662), 3 to 1; Buster Ferraro (648) beat Joe Ruzzo (602), 3-1. Jack Ferraro (777) knocked off Larry Oster (753); Frank Leskie (797) won over Larry Petersen (789), 3-1; Charlie Manfro (825) got nothing better than a split with Ferrero (752).

LET'S FACE IT, PHIL — New York Yankees' shortstop Phil Rizzuto is tagged in face as he is run down between third and home by Bill Sarni, St. Louis Cardinals' catcher during exhibition game at St. Petersburg, Fla. (Mar. 11). Phil was trapped trying to score on Norm Siebern's single to center field. Yankees won, 4-3. (AP Wirephoto).

Cornell's Rolles On All Star Five

Kansas City, March 12 (AP)—Cornell's Chuck Rolles has been selected for the College All Star team that will compete in the U. S. Olympic basketball finals here April 2-4.

Rolles finished in a tie with Joe Tebo from Brown for second place honors in the Ivy League's individual scoring race. Each collected 329 points during the season. Johnny Lee of Yale, with 337, was first.

Rolles scored 34 points in his final game Saturday night to help upset Dartmouth 81-71.

Brooklyn in Same Old Rut

Bosox Trounce Dodgers, 17-5; Mays and Mantle Hit Homers

(By The Associated Press) The Brooklyn Dodgers are a shoo in to repeat as champions of the National League if the start of their exhibition season compared with last year's Grapefruit League record can be taken as a criterion.

Few clubs looked worse during the 1955 exhibition season as the Dodgers won only 13 of their 27 games. But it was a different story once the regular campaign got under way. They won their first 10, dropped two of the next three, and then reeled off 11 more straight victories to send the seven other clubs reeling before they knew what had hit them.

Will it be the same story this year? The first two games would indicate so.

In their exhibition Saturday, the world champions bowed to the Boston Red Sox 8-3 and yesterday took a 17-5 thumping from the same club. The youthful Sox, who collected 17 hits to go with seven Brooklyn errors, did most of their damage off rookie pitchers Sunday. Only Ed Roebuck, veteran relief hurler, was effective.

The Red Sox' big blow was Ted Lepcio's grand slam home run off rookie Ralph Mauriello in a 5-run fourth inning. Boston got 3-hit jobs from Tom Brewer and Tom Hurd and hitless ball from rookie Dave Sisler.

Although this is the time when pitchers are supposed to be ahead of the hitters, home runs were almost common yesterday.

Mickey Mantle came through with a 3-run homer off rookie righthander Bob Mabe with two out in the eighth to give the New York Yankees a 4-3 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals.

MANTLE'S 380-foot p o k e came after Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell and Tom Poholsky, counted on as two of the mainstays of the Cardinal mound staff, had limited the Yanks to two hits for six innings.

Hank Aaron hit two homers over the 433-foot center field barrier at Bradenton, Fla., and Billy Bruton connected with one that travelled 375 feet in leading the Milwaukee Braves to their second straight over the Philadelphia Phillies 8-2. All three came off Jack Meyer, of whom the Phils expect big things this season.

Willie Mays, Johnny Antonelli and Ray Katt got into the home run act as the New York Giants beat the Cleveland Indians 8-5 for their second straight over the Tribe. Rookie Carroll Hardy and Dick Brown homered for the Indians. Mays' blow was his third homer in two games.

VERNON LAW hit a bases-loaded homer and pitched three innings of hitless ball in the Pittsburgh Pirates' 11-1 romp over the Kansas City Athletics. Gene Freese also homered for the Bucs.

Walt Moryn, obtained from Brooklyn by the Cubs in a winter trade, and Monte Irvin, ex-Giant, homered for Chicago but seven Baltimore errors were the big factors in a 13-5 walloping of the Orioles.

The Detroit Tigers made use of 10 bases on balls in edging the Washington Senators 5-4. Two homers were hit in this game—by Jim Lemon of Washington and Ben Downs of Detroit. A pinch sacrifice fly by Bob Nieman gave the Chicago White Sox the run they needed in the 10th to defeat Cincinnati 6-5. It was the White Sox' second straight over the Redlegs and Nieman supplied the winning run both times.

Bridge Authority Shows February Traffic Increase

The New York State Bridge Authority today reported a total gain in February traffic on its Hudson river spans over that of a year ago.

Bear Mountain Bridge, nearest to the new Thruway crossing at Tappan Zee, showed the only decline for the Authority's three bridges during February, but its loss was considerably less than that in the January comparisons.

THE MID-HUDSON Bridge at Poughkeepsie led in the February gain with 17,493 more vehicles or an increase of 6.95 per cent over the same month in 1955. Rip Van Winkle users increased by 506, or seven-tenths of one per cent.

Bear Mountain Bridge traffic fell off 5,293 or 6.14 per cent in February, in contrast to its drop of 20,533 per cent in January. The February report shows Rip Van Winkle Bridge with 72,827 in 1956 and 72,321 in 1955; Mid-Hudson Bridge with 269,198 in 1956 and 251,705 in 1955 and Bear Mountain Bridge with 80,928 for 1956 and 86,221 for 1955.

Newsmen Have Political Fun At Albany Dinner

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—Republican "castaways" fell into the hands of Democratic "cannibals" on a south sea island. But Captain Bligh Dewey turned up in the nick of time to save the GOP from the dinner pot.

That's how the legislative correspondents Assn., an organization of newsmen who cover the state capitol, fancifully depicted the New York political scene in the association's annual gridiron dinner Saturday night.

MOST OF the political figures lampooned by the reporters in song and story were present.

After the three-act musical show, Gov. Harriman, Leonard Hall, Republican National Chairman, and Robert Moses, State Power Authority Chairman, made "off-the-record" speeches. In the "state act," the Republican leaders were shipwrecked after they tossed Captain Bligh Dewey overboard. On the island they found the skeleton of an old mate, Sen. Irving M. Ives, who had been eaten by the Democratic cannibals.

CANNIBAL CHIEF Harriman and witch doctor Carmine G. DeSapio (Tammany Hall leader) almost tossed fellow cannibal Herbert H. Lehman into the pot, instead of midshipman Jacob K. Javits (the Republican Attorney General).

Javits and Lehman, worrying about the mixup, sang to the tune of "Why Do I Love You?" "Why am I like Jack?" "Why is Jack like me?" "Every liberal claque 'Backs us with glee...'"

WHEN THINGS were looking bad for the GOP, L. Judson Morhouse, Republican State Chairman, pulled on a rope around his waist and hauled in Dewey.

Dewey started the drums beating on nearby "Washington Island," throwing chief Harriman into a trance. Asked how he knew the way to deal with Harriman, Dewey replied: "I used to hear those drums myself."

In another act, Harriman was portrayed as a "generous" governor, anxious to give away the state's money. Groups of special pleaders sang "Give Us a Little Dough, Will Ya, Ave?" to the tune of "Give Me a Little Kiss."

Rev. Melish Has Services

New York, March 12 (AP)—The Rev. William Howard Melish conducted Sunday services in an atmosphere of peace yesterday at the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity in Brooklyn. A State Supreme Court justice had ruled the day before that the election of a new rector was invalid, on the ground that a vestry quorum was lacking at the time. Justice Edward G. Baker also denied a temporary injunction sought by six anti-Melish vestrymen to bar the Rev. Melish from conducting services. Decision on a permanent injunction is still pending.

Find Body

Newburgh, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—The body of a man missing from his Wynantskill, N. Y., home since Nov. 6 has been found on the banks of the Hudson river near here. Orange County Coroner James F. Lulves identified the man as Albert H. Dorman, 52. He said late last night he had not determined the cause of death but he was "satisfied there was no foul play." A resident of nearby Balmville saw the body at the foot of a steep embankment yesterday afternoon. Wynantskill is in the Troy area about 100 miles north of here.

O'Brien Gets Award

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—Emmett N. O'Brien, Albany bureau chief for Gannett News Service, has been presented the 1956 award of merit of the Legislative Correspondents Assn. Alumni. The presentation was made Saturday night at the legislative correspondents, annual gridiron dinner.

Four Drownings Push Fatality Toll to 17

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—Four drownings helped push the state's fatality toll up to 17 for the weekend.

Nine persons were victims in automobile accidents between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

Two of the drownings occurred at Earlville. Police began grappling yesterday for the bodies of Reginald Clark and Stewart Neimyer, both of Smyrna and both 41, who were last seen Saturday when they set out to check trap lines along the flood-swollen Chenango river.

Eighteen-month-old Jackie Charles Wheeland of Newark Valley perished Friday night when he wandered into marshy backwater left by the receding floodwaters of the Susquehanna river at Vestal.

A six-year-old boy, Lawrence Mieczko, of Cheektowaga, was the state's fourth drowning victim. He was drowned in a water-filled excavation while playing near his home Saturday.
